Let's Answer Your Top Questions About the

Mommy Makeover

Whether you're a new mom or years into motherhood, it's normal to feel like your body has changed in ways you didn't expect. At Dermatology + Plastic Surgery, we're here to help you reclaim your confidence—safely and beautifully. Below, we're answering your most common questions about the Mommy Makeover.

What is a Mommy Makeover?

Any combination of breast + waist enhancement or restoration

(typically breast lift and/or augmentation or reduction, with abdominoplasty a.k.a tummy tuck and/or liposuction).

How long do results last?

Your results can last for decades—or even be permanent—with a stable weight, healthy lifestyle, and consistent skincare.

Can I have one if I'm planning more children?

It's best to wait until you're done having children, as future pregnancies can reverse your results.

How soon after pregnancy can I have one?

We typically recommend waiting 6 to 12 months postpartum for your body to recover and your weight to stabilize.

How long does surgery take?

Most Mommy Makeovers take between 3–6 hours, depending on which procedures are included.

How do I maintain my results?

Stay active, eat well, avoid major weight fluctuations, and follow all post-op care instructions.

Will I have scars?

Yes, but we place incisions in discreet areas, and over time they fade significantly with proper care.

Is there a "right" age?

There's no set age—but most women choose a Mommy Makeover in their 30s or 40s, after they've completed their families and are ready to focus on themselves.

How do I choose the right surgeon?

Choose a board-certified plastic surgeon with experience, a compassionate approach, and a portfolio of beautiful, natural results.
